Creating communities through regeneration

Our national team of over 25 partners work extensively across the housing sector, bringing informed and pragmatic solutions to the challenges and opportunities that our clients face.

We have clients across the spectrum of organisations engaged in housing and regeneration:

- Registered providers
- Local authorities
- Private sector developers
- Funders
- Contractors

We offer more than just legal expertise. We offer an in-depth understanding of the housing market accumulated over decades of specialising in the sector. Knowledge of market positions; what works and what doesn't; what opportunities there could be in the market; what partnerships and introductions could add value to our clients.

As well as understanding this across the different client groups in the sector, we have expertise in key related fields such as health & social care and energy markets, providing us with a unique perspective and position as a law firm to bring more than just the law to our clients.

This brochure introduces you to our team and provides some examples of recent housing and regeneration projects we have advised on.

New communities

Thamesmead Waterfront

We are working on the project team with Peabody Trust to create a new waterside district in Thamesmead. The Waterfront development is a critical part of a wider development programme, and will transform 2km of previously undeveloped waterfront along with existing derelict stock, to deliver a new community, a revitalised new town centre, a new leisure and commercial facilities.

LA / RP Strategic Partnerships

Non-procured joint venture for 100% affordable developments

We acted as adviser to Brighton & Hove City Council in a £180m joint venture with Hyde Housing. The 'Homes for Brighton & Hove' joint venture will provide 1,000 new homes for people living and/or working in the city, over a five year period. The properties will be situated over several sites and will consist of both rented homes with a living rent – a rent that reflects local wages, rather than market rent, and shared-ownership.

- 1,000 homes
- non-procured partnership

Estate regeneration

London Borough of Havering 12 estate regeneration

We advised the London Borough of Havering on the regeneration of 12 council-owned estates in Romford through the procurement of a corporate joint venture with Wates. The project will overhaul existing homes and provide additional rented accommodation and home ownership properties, delivering much-needed affordable homes for borough residents.

Re-energising urban spaces

Birmingham Smithfield

We are supporting Birmingham City Council on its project to redevelop this central space, set to create a dynamic area in the heart of Birmingham. This innovative regeneration scheme is a key element of the Council's ground-breaking "Big City Plan", launched in 2010, containing the Council's 20-year vision for the creation of 5,000 homes. The Plan involves transforming Smithfield into a "distinctive place", expanding the City's existing housing offering by the creation of 2,000 new homes, a wide variety of unique cultural attractions, as well as (as a key component of the overall scheme) state-of-the-art new leisure and retail facilities.

This innovative project will transform the Icknield Port Loop in Birmingham into an exciting new community consisting of 1,150 new homes, leisure facilities and workspace, reinventing historical buildings to create a new community in 18 phases.

Brentford Waterside

Working in partnership with the London Borough of Hounslow, we are advising on planning, procurement and appropriation to redevelop land between Brentford's High Street and the River Brent. The development will ensure retention of some of the area's largest industrial heritage structures, and form a key aspect of the Council's ambitious Regeneration and Economic Development Strategy, which seeks to deliver 12,330 new homes by 2030.
